"We train our dogs with the products we sell."

Letter from the President

Greetings NSTRA members,

It's that slow time of the year for dog trialing. We had a good showing for the Performance Trial in Waverly, Nebraska. The trial filled after the deadline was extended. I would like to thank all the participants and the Rock Creek Club for their efforts. Many thanks. These events take a ton of behind the scenes working, planning and organizing by your National Officers and the hosting club members. For the biggest part these people go unrecognized for their efforts. It's a thankless job most of the time and my hat goes off to those people putting these events together. Also, congratulations to the finalists: Winner – Resa's Mohawk Junior – John Resa; 1st runner-up – Nutt's Tricky Ryder's Sissy – Bo Nutt; 2nd runner-up – Helm's Annie – Owner/ Kyle Helmstader, Handler/Chad Norpel; 3rd runner-up – Cactus Patch's Sour Diesel – C.J. Hamilton; 4th runner-up – Skipper's Smokin Addie – Mikeal Mulberry; and 5th runner-up – Mulberry's Smokin Ace – Mikeal Mulberry.

Couple of other things to mention. I'm sure many of you are aware of the issue where your dog's parentage (Sire of Dam) is not shown on your dog's cover page. Not sure what happened that led to this problem, but now it is fixed. So, if your dog's sire or dam are not listed, be sure to contact the office so that can be corrected. This is important to ALL of us to keep the database accurate and informative. So please check your dog's page and report it if both parents are not showing.

Also, this being a slow part of the season, even though it's hot in many regions, it may be a good time to schedule your judging seminars. Also, some of the regions have been putting on training seminars/open house events, inviting non-members to participate in an event to pick up new members. From what I've seen, that method is showing real good results. Something for you region presidents and BOD members to think about.

We are beginning to see our efforts in running a NSTRA booth at the annual Pheasant Fest pay off, as we have picked up a good number of folks through this endeavor. Next year's event is in Omaha sometime in March. We are always looking for volunteers to help with this, so let us know if you might be interested.

That's about it for now. See you all out on the trial circuit when the weather cools.

Scott Townsend

NSTRA President

NSTRA MEMBERS - Important things to remember!

Reminders – check back often!

National trials are the responsibility of the National Officers with input from the Board of Directors and the local co-chairs of national trials. Criteria for entry, which may be subject to change, for the original 5 National Trials is available in the reference section of the Rule Book beginning on page 41, Section 11. If a particular national trial is subject to changes in the entry criteria, there will be notice provided on the official entry form, in the magazine, on the national website, and/or by email if available.

To enter a national trial, you may submit a hard copy official entry form and payment, OR you may scan and email an official entry form with payment information, OR you may send by facsimile and official entry form with payment information, OR you may enter and pay on-line on the website. NO EXCEPTIONS.

Please note that additional new national trials may be added from time to time and do not yet appear in the current Rule Book. Please contact your National Officer Representative or the National Office staff for additional information regarding such trials. The current list of National Trials is as follows:

GARMIN INVITATIONAL CHAMPIONSHIP TRIAL Formerly known as Quail Forever. This is a revolving trial generally held in February.

TRIAL OF CHAMPIONS. This trial is held in Amo, Indiana, in April.

NATIONAL AMATEUR TRIAL OF CHAMPIONS. This trial is held in Amo, Indiana, in April.

PERFORMANCE TRIAL. This trial is a revolving trial generally held in June.

PURINA ENDURANCE CLASSIC. This is revolving trial generally held in September:

DOG OF THE YEAR. This trial is held in Amo, Indiana, in October.

TOP PERFORMANCE AWARD:
To be eligible:

*Dogs must have at least 20 open points accumulated in weekend trials between June 1 through May 31 of the applicable year. Once a dog is eligible, a schedule of scoring is applied based on the results at regional elimination trials and National Trials

*The Performance Trial will be the beginning national trial each year, even if it ends prior to June 1 in order to keep the number of national trials the same each year.

*The Regional Elimination trial results used in calculating Top Performance Awards is the regularly scheduled regional elimination championship in the qualifying year/season (only one regional can count per year). Regionals scheduled or rescheduled to be held after June 1 will apply to the previous year. Each regional elimination will have a point value of 600 points. The value will drop 25 points per placement until the last dog or points run out (1 – 600, 2 – 575, 3 – 550, etc.). The placement for the regional eliminations is determined by the score of the last round in which the dog ran. In addition, 100 points will be awarded to the Champion, 75 for the second-place dog, 50 for the third and 25 for fourth.

*The National Trials results are calculated as follows: A dog must place in the top 32 dogs to receive a qualifying score from that trial. Each national trial will have a point value of 800 points. The value will drop 25 points per placement throughout the Saturday cut (1 – 800, 2 – 775, 3 – 750, etc.). The placement for the national trial is determined by the score of the last round in which the dog ran. In addition, 100 bonus points will be awarded to the Champion, 75 for second place, 50 for third and 25 for fourth.

HALL OF FAME NOMINATIONS:

Hall of Fame nominations will be accepted in a rolling calendar throughout the year. Send these nominations to the nation office, or to a national officer no later than March 31 of the year in which a dog is to be considered. Nominations of dogs to the NSTRA Hall of Fame are NOT “carried over” to following years. Plainly stated, a dog that does not get elected to the Hall of Fame in the year nominated must be re-submitted in order to be considered for election. The National Officers, in concert with the Board of Directors, make selections to the Hall of Fame each April.

TRIAL SCHEDULES:

Fall/winter trial schedules are due in the office by May 1. Spring/summer trial schedules are due in the office by Nov. 1. All trials must be published on the website 4 weeks prior to their running.

SANCTION FEES:

Trial sanction fees are required BEFORE a trial packet is mailed and before a trial may be “approved” in the system. Please pay all sanction fees at least 4 weeks prior to your trial date to ensure prompt mailing of the packet and to ensure that the trial may be drawn in a timely manner.

TRIAL REPORTS:

Trial reports and results should be entered into the trial draw system as soon as possible after a trial and no later than 10 days after the trial date. Overall results will not be approved until the reporting is complete. First place points and championships will not be confirmed or awarded until the reporting is complete. (This includes receipt of all registration paperwork for placing dogs.)

HOME REGION:

Members requesting a change of Home Region must do so, in writing, through the National Office between the dates of October 1 and January 1..

*Exception: A member who permanently relocates to within the boundaries of a Region, other than their Home Region, may make written application to the NSTRA office at any time to request a change in their Home Region.

ASSOCIATE MEMBERSHIPS:

Associate memberships are available to members' spouses and children 18 years and under, still living at home. There must be at least one regular paid membership in the household to qualify. Associate members have the same rights as regular members with respect to participating in field trials (e.g., owning dogs, handling dogs, judging, bird planting, etc.). Associate member may not vote in any regional or national elections including rule or by-law changes, they cannot hold an office, and they do not receive a magazine.

RULE CHANGES:

Proposed rule changes or new additions shall be submitted sixty (60) days prior to the first day of the Trial of Champions and/or the Dog of the Year trial.

CONSTITUTION/BY-LAW CHANGES:

All proposed amendments to the Constitution and By-laws shall be submitted to the National Officers at least ninety (90) days prior to the first day of the Trial of Champions and/or the Dog of the Year trial.

REGION HIGH POINT:

Points earned in the qualifying rounds of a Regional Elimination or a Championship trial DO count towards the region's high point competition. Points earned in the finals of above trials DO NOT count towards the region's high point.

OWNERSHIP CHANGE:

Once a dog takes a NSTRA placement, any subsequent ownership changes must be sent to the NSTRA office. Please send a copy of new registration papers with the new owners' names to the office. The date of transfer will be the date shown on the registration papers.

UNREGISTERED DOGS:

As of June 1, 2022 a dog cannot run in a NSTRA trial without a system-generated dog profile or record. A trial coordinator cannot create the record. National staff or officers can only create the record once registration papers are received in the NSTRA office. In addition, there remain many "unapproved" dogs in the system. Unapproved dogs shall not be entered to run in trials until proper paperwork is received and appropriate action to create the record is completed. This can either be submitted by the owner or the trial chairman. We will accept copies by fax (317-839-4197), e-mail (office@nstra.org), or a photocopy by regular mail.

NSTRA DISTINGUISHED MEMBERS:

The NSTRA Distinguished Members award honors those extraordinary men and women whose contributions and achievements significantly helped develop, or continued to improve, the National Shoot to Retrieve Field Trial Association, Inc. This award will be presented annually at the Dog of the Year banquet. Nominations may be submitted at any time to the staff at the national office, to a National Officer, or to the current chair of the Distinguished Members Committee. A short description of the individual and their contributions to NSTRA should be sent to the national office. A picture of the individual should be included, if available. Contact the NSTRA office for a list of criteria. The committee will review all Nominations and verify contributions.

Decisions will be made not only by the information submitted but by any other information collected. The committee will make their decision by the April Board of Directors' meeting. A permanent plaque will be located at the NSTRA office with a smaller plaque awarded to the individual or their family if deceased.

NSTRA TRIAL DATES and QUALIFYING DATES

2026 Purina Endurance Classic- Dickinson, ND

September 9-12, 2026

The number of dogs in the trial shall be a maximum of one hundred twenty-eight. Region quotas will be determined based on number of trials held in each region June 1st to May 31st. Entry into this trial is based on all open points earned within a dog's home region and placement points earned from qualifying rounds of a National Trial during the period of June 1, 2025 through May 31, 2026.

A DOG AND A GUN

By Randy Schultz

In the late '80's. I bought a used, red, 2-door, F-150 with a V-6, a bench Naugahyde seat, a 4-speed on the floor, and a 6.5' bed. It was 2WD with a limited-slip rear end, and I remember I paid top dollar for it- $8000. I loved that truck! It was my main mode of transport back then. Thankfully, it had air conditioning, since I was living in Georgia. When my wife bought me a Brittany puppy from the "hunting dog" classifieds in the newspaper for my birthday, I knew I was ready to conquer the bird-dog world. I bought a shotgun at the pawn shop- a 12 ga. Browning A5 with a Cutts Compensator- for the sum of $200. I ordered some LL Bean hunting boots, the ones with rubber bottoms and leather up top. I found an old plywood box that originally held some jet engine parts. I cut a door, attached hinges, and bolted them on. With a little straw thrown in, I had a classy little dog box in the bed of my truck. For clothing, I figured jeans were fine; I didn't need gloves, a hat, or sunglasses. My genetically questionable, world-class Brittany was growing up, and when he was a year old, November arrived, quail season opened in Georgia, and I was ready to shoot some birds.

At that time, I was part of a deer lease on 2000 acres in Georgia's pine country. The owners decided to clear-cut the pines and leave the hardwood bottoms. Little did I know that it would become prime Bobwhite territory for the next 5 years- until the re-growth got too thick. I would spend time at work thinking about the property and which area I wanted to cover with my dog. By the time I arrived home, I knew I'd be leaving the next morning, before light, for the 2-hour drive to the lease.

The next morning, I'd load Rocket in his kennel in the bed of the truck, grab my shotgun and put it in the holder behind my head in the rear window, pack a sandwich, fill a mug of coffee, and back down the driveway headed for some awesome hunting. I knew every time that truck turned south to hunt that Rocket and I would have a great day.

For several years, I hunted every chance I got. One year, I made the drive south 57 times. That was in addition to the weekend NSTRA trials- 10 or 12 trials per season. Hot, cold, rain, sunshine, sleet, windy, or even snowing a few times, it made no difference to me. It was during that time that I realized I had found my avocation.

It was a simple time. A dog, a gun, a truck, a place to hunt.

I chuckle and contrast that with today.

I drive at least 1000 (usually 1200 to 2000) miles pulling a camper, in the coldest months staying in motels, sometimes with a friend, usually by myself. My F-250 eats the miles as I churn out 800 to 1100 miles per day. Too excited to take it slow, I start around 5 a.m. and stop to sleep around dark. In the early days, I'd drive 80+ mph, now not so much. I would hunt states from Michigan to Arizona and up to Idaho, and all the states in between. When I find a place to hunt, I will unload my considerably better-bred bird dogs, hook up their individual GPS collars linked to my handheld GPS with an integral satellite communication device. I'll mark the truck location on my iPhone, GPS watch, and handheld device. I'll ensure I have my mapping app on my phone to determine boundaries and mark my track for future reference. I will also mark every covey (unless I've shot birds in this area previously) for a download to my hard drive back home. Deerskin gloves, a crushable felt broad-brim hat, bird hunting boots, technical pants, a Gore-Tex jacket, and sunglasses to match the cloud cover are also a part of the uniform. The dogs are off-loaded from their padded, heated, and cooled kennels, and I'll reach for my bespoke 28 ga., grab a handful of shells to stow in my Wingworks vest, give the dogs a short whistle, and head into the wind.

And yet, all that stuff is really just...stuff. (Except the gun, I love the gun.) Am I happier, more excited, or more successful hunting now than I was back in the day? No. I'm realizing that 35 years ago, I already had all that I needed. Just like that boy or girl in South Dakota who comes home from school, calls the dog, grabs the shotgun, and heads out back to pop a rooster before dinner. It was much simpler then.

I had a dog, a gun, and a place to hunt.

Again Congratulations to everyone who earned placements thru out the trial and a big Thank you to Asher Products for Sponsoring the 2026 Performance trial.

JOHN RESA

Winner of 2026 NSTRA PERFORMANCE CLASSIC

1. How did you get started in NSTRA?

Two older gentlemen, talk me in to go watch a trial Roy and Mac Mcpike I told him I thought I could learn to do it

2. What was the name of your first dog and did you raise it yourself?

Lady English pointer I bought her as a puppy from Morris Schuck

3. Did you raise and train by yourself?

I raised her and trained her by myself, but asked a lot of questions to those three gentlemen

4. How did you prepare for the Championship? Just kept my dogs in shape for the regular trials so they would be in shape for the national trial.

5. Did you do anything different for the run than you do for your weekend runs?

Did not do anything different sit there watch dog work all day

6. Which was the toughest brace during your week at the Championship? My toughest brace was when I run against Eric Forrester. We both had two birds and could not find the third bird where one of us could get and move on and I happen to outscore him

7. When did you actually think you had a chance at winning the championship?

10 minutes to go in the hour brace I had six he had five and I didn't think it would be more out there and I thought I had it won

8. Who has helped/influenced you the most in NSTRA?

Probably one of the most influential persons I listen to was Bob Cunningham how to look at a dog and what to look for Roy McPike and Morris Schuck was the other two people that I talked to over the years when I first started trialing

9. What would you tell a new handler the best way to prepare for a championship trial?

Try to get your dog broke as possible

10. What is your favorite memory from the Championship The phone calls that I got the text people sent me things like that what I rememberme

WELCOME, New Members!!

1. Where did you hear about NSTRA/what was the appeal of NSTRA for you?
2. What breed of dog will you be trialing/what is your background with bird dogs?
3. Will your family be a part of the association/attending trials with you?
4. Anything else you would like to include?

Lacey Tweten

1. My husband heard about NSTRA through other members at our Red River valley NAVHDA training.
2. We have a 3-year-old purebred German shorthair pointer and a 6-year-old rescue mixed breed- who is 50% GSP.
3. My husband and I attend these trials together and love working together with our dogs.
4. When we rescued our first puppy and did a DNA test to find he was 50% GSP my husband immediately wanted to start hunting again. When I saw how happy it made our puppy (and how naturally talented he was) I had to join in! 6 years later we have two dogs that we hunt and train and run trials with. I love it because they love it. To be welcomed into the NSTRA family was wonderful... and effortless. Everyone is so kind and generous with their knowledge and advice. Just overall good human beings.

THE BEAST

by: Randy Schultz

I own a 2013 Ford F-250 with a Gen-1 Powerstroke diesel. Last week, I hit 490,000 miles. You read that right. 490,000. I never intended to put that many miles on the truck, but after 13 years of driving to bird hunt, it's what I have. The last F-250 I had was sold at 385,000 miles. (It was a 7.3 diesel, and I wish I still had it.) Now, as they say, it's a thing with me. And, I plan to keep driving the Beast to see just how long I can keep it flying.

I have many friends who ask how it's going, how many miles I have, and what I am doing to extend the engine's life. I thought I'd share some tips. Some are important, some not so much, but I wanted to put them out there. Pick and choose. I also know that discussing diesel trucks is like discussing bird dogs, maybe even more controversial. So, keep in mind I am not a diesel engineer, just a guy with a technical mind that gives far more weight to facts, numbers, testing, and science than anecdotal evidence.

I made a few modifications to the basic truck soon after I bought it, such as swapping out the ridiculous plastic 28-gallon fuel tank for a steel 50-gallon tank, and adding airbags to the rear end, but those are drivability issues. So, on to the diesel engine.

Find a diesel mechanic you trust. It was more by chance than effort when I found my guy. He was working for a great shop I'd been using for years. We met when I had some turbo issues at about 150,000 miles, and he did the work. He didn't mind that I asked a lot of questions and stopped in to watch him work. After a while, he left that company and started his own business, and I followed him. He's honest, and I trust him. I don't think I'm getting the family discount, but I'm OK with that. Another fun by-product of a good relationship is communication. Several times over the years, I would call him while on the road, and we would discuss this problem or that. Invariably, his advice would be spot on.

I have his personal phone number and promised to never abuse that. A few years ago, my truck was overheating while pulling my camper (8000#) up a long, steep (8-10+%) grade in 95 deg heat in Wyoming. I made it to the top, after several pull-outs and cool-downs, and called him. I described the symptoms, etc., and he was pretty sure it was the fan clutch on the radiator. Spot on, it turned out. The Ford dealership said it was a coolant leak in a line to the turbo, and they couldn't even look at fixing it for 10 days. That didn't pass the smell test to my non-mechanic brain. Since it was all downhill to Georgia, I drove it home and let him fix it.

Important! First, do not use the dealer-recommended oil change interval. Years ago, I started having my used oil analyzed after every oil change. At that time, I was using the recommended 7500 mile interval (or when the oil change light illuminated). I discovered I was getting the least amount of engine wear (metal particles per 1000 miles) when I changed the oil at or close to 6000 miles- per the analysis. I have many reports in the database now and I'm confident my engine internals (bearings, lifters, etc.) aren't coming apart. And, I am tracking trends, so I can catch abnormal wear before it becomes a problem. There are many companies out there that will do this for you. The one I use is Speediagnostix.com, owned by Lake Speed, Jr., a true motor oil geek. (None of the products I mention gives me anything. I just wanted to give you a place to start looking.) Also, I use a full synthetic Shell Rotella T-6 5W-40. Great oil, available everywhere, including Walmart. I won't get into the "100% synthetic" vs. "full synthetic" vs. PAO oil here, but it makes a good story involving lawsuits and advertising. Full synthetic oil is excellent, especially if you are changing it every 6000 miles. Check out "The Motor Oil Geek" YouTube channel and make your own informed decision. (Trigger warning: He uses science and numbers to prove his assertions.)

In the past, I used the Ford oil filter. I found what I think is a superior product- the PPE oil filter. A larger capacity, with a lower micron filter media to catch more of the oil contaminants. (Go to: ppepower.com/collections/oil-filters and make your own decision.) My Gen-1 Powerstroke uses 14 quarts of oil with the PPE (bigger) oil filter. The Gen-3's ('22 and newer) use 15 quarts.

Let's talk diesel fuel. The diesel fuel in the U.S. is junk. That's important to know, because it relates directly to the "Achilles Heel" in my Powerstroke engine. My engine has a Bosch High Pressure Fuel pump- the CP4. The CP4 uses the fuel itself for lubrication- specifically the sulphur in the fuel. When the US started requiring diesel companies to lower the sulphur content in the fuel, they lowered the lubrication for the CP4 pump. Consequently, the pump will eventually wear and come apart and send metal parts into the entire fuel system (a $10,000-$15,000 repair). This could happen under 100,000 miles. There are a few ways to overcome this problem and keep your diesel running. The first is to install a "disaster prevention Donaldson filter" kit just downstream of the pump. (<https://ssdiesel.com>). When the CP4 "grenades" itself, the metal is captured in the disaster kit fuel filter, the repair cost is significantly less, only a CP4 pump replacement. I read that Cummins and Duramax both have the CP4 pump now, having 'upgraded' from the bullet-proof CP3 in 2011 or later.

Important! The second is to never put fuel in your truck without adding a fuel conditioner. These products add lubricity for the CP4 pump, increase the deficient cetane rating in US diesel, clean injectors, prevent fuel freezing in cold weather, and other things. Three good ones are Hotshots EDT, Archoil, and Power Service. YouTube has numerous comparison videos to watch. I have used all three over the last 490,000 miles. Currently, I'm using Power Service, mostly because it's available at nearly every truck stop. Convenience is a factor.

The third is to replace the CP4 with the CP3 (older, reliable) pump, S&S makes a DCR pump to replace it, or change out to a new CP-4. I use the aftermarket fuel filters from Doc's Diesel. They advertise a much better micron rating media to clean the fuel better.

The Duramax and Cummins diesels have their own failure points, e.g. the grid heater bolt on the Cummins, and the head gaskets on the Duramax with their aluminum heads bolted to iron blocks and expansion issues when they get hot. I suggest watching "Dave's Auto" on YouTube to learn about these issues and the aftermarket fixes. It makes a lot of sense to me to fix before failure if you know the weakness. As was explained to me once, "Hope is not a plan."

Two other upgrades to think about are a FASS fuel system (www.fass-fuel-systems.com) and a bypass oil filtration system. The FASS uses different filters in the fuel line to take out entrained air and water and purify the fuel. It would be hugely beneficial to the diesel owner. The bypass oil filtration system continually takes a small amount of oil, routes it through a very fine filter, and then puts it back in the pan. It's an aftermarket upgrade to the oil system. I don't have it, but wish I'd done it at 100,000 miles. Fuel and oil are the lifeblood of any diesel, and these two upgrades address them both.

I had my original CP4 pump replaced last week. I was gambling every time I went west, and I started getting nervous driving those two-tracks in the desert or mountains. I had the disaster kit on it, and I used fuel additive from day one, but for peace-of-mind, I took the hit and had a new, improved CP4 installed (as well as my third water pump and second serpentine belt). I think the fact that it lasted so long is a testament to the fuel additives. The Gen-3 Powerstroke on the '22 and newer trucks have an improved CP4 and some other beefed-up items. I'd check closely before I neglected the fuel additive, etc.

Back at the start of this, I mentioned how diesel maintenance is a hot-button issue. I get it. You might get some ideas to get more miles out of your own beast, and I'm not a diesel mechanic. Don't forget the crankcase filter, transfer case, transmission, and differential fluids. I do my own transfer case, fuel filters, and oil changes. The rest I leave for my mechanic.

Bottom line: Diesel maintenance is expensive, but so is the cost of a new truck. I hope to hit 750,000 miles with a new puppy on board. Stay tuned and buy the puppy.

The Illinois Region held its summer meeting on June 28 to recognize accomplishments and achievements. At this meeting we presented a check for $25,000 to Shriners Children's Hospital for the benefit trial conducted in October 2025. For more than three decades, the IL NSTRA region has hosted a Shriners Children's trial, bringing dog handlers and hunters from across the Midwest together to support the children.

Thank you to everyone involved—including our friends from Ainaid Shriners—for your unwavering support.

The American Brittany

The American Brittany Club is a member club of the American Kennel Club and the recognized breed sponsor by the American Field. The Club is comprised of many regional Brittany Clubs located from coast to coast. Most of the Clubs hold field trials, conformation shows and hunt test events. The clubs also hold meetings, fun trials, training sessions and other events of interest to the Brittany owner. Membership in the American Brittany Club entitles you to a monthly issue of the American Brittany Magazine. This publication which began in 1949 keeps you abreast of what is happening in the Brittany world. The magazine contains reports of field trials, shows, hunt test and agility/obedience events, club activities and articles on the care and training of the Brittany. The magazine also has articles on hunting and general interest as well as listings of kennels, stud dogs and trainers.

YEARLY MEMBERSHIP IS $50.

NSTRA Members,

If you notice that your dog's Sire or Dam information is missing when viewing your dog's profile, it is most likely because the Sire and/or Dam is not currently registered as a running dog within NSTRA.

To improve progeny tracking, we will begin adding non-NSTRA dogs into the system as needed.

If your dog's profile is missing Sire or Dam information, please email a copy of your dog's registration papers to the NSTRA office and include the following:

Subject line: "Please Add My Dog's Sire or Dam"
In the body of the email, specify the dog, owner and whether the missing information is the Sire, Dam, or both.

This will allow us to properly update your dog's profile.

How to attach your dog's picture to its profile:

- 1. Log in to your account on the website.
- 2. Go to your membership profile. If you already logged in, click on your name and select "My Account".
- 3. Under "My Dogs" click on "Edit next to the dog's name.

Trainin' Dogs with Rick Smith

How Trained is Trained?

There's a new guy at work, and in conversation, you mention you hunt and have a dog. Your new friend announces that he has a trained dog and likes to bird-hunt, too, and maybe the two of you could go hunting together sometime. Sounds great, right? This could be the start of a great friendship and give you a new hunting companion...or it could be a total wreck just looking for a place to happen.

Why? First, you've got to define "trained" as it applies to both your dog and your friend's dog. In a perfect world, both dogs are well-trained, able to honor and back as well as handle easily, and the two of you have a great time. Unfortunately, it doesn't always happen this way.

So let's talk about trained and untrained. A completely trained dog is steady to wing, shot, and fall, and will hold until released. An untrained dog is out of control. Most dogs fall somewhere in the middle, where the dog is steady to wing but breaks on shot or fall. Ask your new friend about his dog's training. If he tells you his dog is a great hunting dog but gives you a blank stare when you ask about stuff like steady to wing and shot, or honoring, be careful. Let's face it: Most everybody thinks their dog is pretty darned good...until they see somebody else's dog that really is trained.

You're at the truck for your first hunt with your new friend and his dog. How do you handle things so everyone comes out happy? You can get a good idea of how well-trained a dog is by how well he handles around the vehicle. Is he patient and quiet, or is he pawing frantically at the crate door, barking and whining? Does he pull when on a lead, or does he respect his handler? What a dog shows you here is usually what he will take into the field. If he's out of control at the truck, things are probably not going to improve during the hunt.

The best plan is to suggest turning the dogs loose to hunt one at a time. This gives you a chance to see how the other dog works, and you can make further hunting decisions from there. It doesn't matter which dog works first, and hopefully all will go well with all dogs being reasonably well-trained. Maybe your friend's dog is young and well-started, but not finished. Find out what the dog knows and how far along he is in training, then make a judgment call on whether or not to hunt the young dog with yours. If things go south, you can always pick your dog up and stop any problems before they get worse.

Suppose your friend's dog is not trained and is an out-of-control nuisance. How do you handle that? Good sportsmanship comes into play here. If the dog is running willy-nilly and busting birds, don't shoot. It is possible that the new guy may not care that he screamed his lungs out all day trying to control his dog and didn't get many shooting opportunities. That's his choice. Your choice has to do with your dog and what is in the best interest of preserving the long hours of training you've put in.

The best way to prove to someone the value of a well-trained dog is to let them hunt over one. The thrill of watching a good bird dog do his job is enough to make most anybody covet a dog like that. The more shooting a good dog provides through being well-trained, the more that dog will get to go hunting, and the more you'll want to take that dog hunting. At this point, it's easy to discuss training and maybe even offer to help. This could be just what your new friend was hoping for, and you have a chance to be a mentor.

So what can happen if you hunt trained and untrained dogs together? It depends on the situation. If you're running an older dog with a young dog and they know each other well, the pecking order is already established. If the two dogs are total strangers to each other, it will take some time to work out which dog is dominant, and that can continue through into hunting as they try to work out who is in charge. Depending on the personalities of the two dogs, this can result in a fight, it can result in one dog being so totally submissive that he won't leave his owner's side, and any combination in between. Even on the breakaway, if you turn an unfocused/untrained dog loose with a trained/focused dog, lots of times they'll both lose focus because they're paying more attention to working out who's in charge.

Trained dogs run for a purpose. It's a pack purpose, and they are working for the handler. Untrained dogs run for their own purpose and don't recognize anybody as the leader or another dog as a pack member. A trained dog will run with the focus on finding birds, while an untrained dog will be running and hunting for anything and everything. This usually results in the untrained dog stumbling over all sorts of stuff, from off-game to busting birds.

How can this affect your trained dog? Again, it depends on the situation. If the untrained dog is running wild and finds birds, runs through them, and chases them off well out of gun range, all in plain sight of the trained dog, then the trained dog, seeing no correction forthcoming from the handler, decides to join in the fun because it must be okay.

Think back to when you were small. When you went with your parents to visit friends, weren't there some things their kids did that you knew you shouldn't? And if your parents weren't watching, didn't you join in the forbidden behavior, too? I know I did, especially when there was no threat of my parents catching me. Bird dogs are pretty much the same. In this situation where the out-of-control dog is busting and chasing birds and most everything else in its path, it takes an older, seasoned dog to be able to handle the pressure and keep his composure. The mature dog of perhaps eight to 10 years and up is likely to be less ambitious and more settled in his routine. A younger dog is less likely to be able to handle the chaos of being hunted with an outlaw dog, and is probably going to come unglued. It's just too tempting.

Different scenario: The two dogs know each other, and the young dog respects the older, trained dog as the leader. A young dog can learn a lot from an older dog, if the young dog is compliant and paying attention. This can be helpful in a backing situation since the pecking order is already established. A young dog will learn to back more quickly with an older dog since the older dog knows how to find birds. If there's more action, there's more opportunity to learn, and the experienced, trained dog can provide that action.

On the flip side, hunting these two together too often can result in the young, untrained dog learning to rely too heavily on the older dog to find all the birds, becoming what we call a "me, too" dog that learns to back but not find birds. This deprives the younger dog of the independence he needs.

What to do? Let the young dog learn from the older dog, but also hunt the young dog alone as much as possible. If the inexperienced younger dog is an Alpha personality, he is likely to let the older, experienced dog do the work of locating the birds...so the young dog can jump in and punch them out. Again, let common sense be your guide and stop this before it starts. If the younger dog is submissive to the older dog, he may just trail along behind and not want to take any initiative to find birds on his own.

A trained dog doesn't require much in the way of direction from the handler in the field. He will work within range, using the cover and objectives to his advantage without having to be constantly guided. The untrained dog, however, is probably getting hollered at a lot. All this shouting and yelling and arm-waving do is frustrate the older dog, and in self-defense, he will tune out everything, including his handler. In other words, if your buddy wants to hunt his untrained dog with yours, do yourself a favor and don't turn 'em loose to hunt together. Let each dog have a turn to hunt, but hunt them one at a time. The result is twofold: First, your dog doesn't have to deal with the negative influence of the untrained dog; and second, your new friend gets to watch your trained dog do what his didn't, which is likely to make him want to train his own dog to be better.

The trained dog has a find, makes a stylish point, and is rock-solid steady to the wing, shot, and fall. The untrained dog breaks, rushes in, and steals the retrieve. What does this do? It deprives the trained dog of his reward – the retrieve. It also takes away some of the trained dog's desire to work for you, since the other dog got the reward/retrieve for misbehaving.

To take this scene a step further, what if both dogs go for the retrieve? It is entirely possible that you'll end up with a tug of war between the two dogs, and you can end up with two dogs with hardmouth problems developed from the competition over the bird; plus you've got nothing left of that bird for your table. The trained dog that pointed the bird should get the retrieve; it's the reward for a job well-done. There are times when a little competition can be a good thing, but be careful about letting it get out of hand. If an older dog jumps on a pup to argue over a bird, he can spook the pup off birds. Be very careful of doing anything that could potentially make a young dog bird-shy.

The bottom line is this: Always put your dog first by making decisions that will help your dog do the job you've trained him to do and maintain all your hard work. Your new hunting friend will likely step up his game to want a dog as fine as yours, and that can lead to many enjoyable days afield.
